

Educational Theatre Programs presents... 'Asthma'

Bronchi the Airosauros offers an engaging way to learn about asthma. This interactive puppet show teaches children about the effects of asthma on the human body, common triggers and how to avoid them, and the importance of a treatment plan.

The colorful characters perform a show using comedy and facts to educate elementary-aged children on the dangers of this condition.

Show specifics:

- 'Asthma' lasts approximately 45 minutes and requires 1 hour for set-up and 1 hour for break-down.
- A maximum audience of 200 per show is recommended (up to 2 shows per day and multiple days can be scheduled at one location to accommodate school size)
- This performance is recommended for Elementary school students (ages 6-10 years old)
- A 20" x 20" foot flat floor and access to an electrical outlet are required for the performance area (this does not include audience seating). This program is interactive and not suited for an auditorium or stage

For more information or to book a performance, contact Kaiser Permanente Educational Theatre Programs at (770) 496-3749.
