Kaiser Permanente Panorama City Opens New Hospital.

In 2008, Kaiser Permanente reaffirmed its commitment to the community as it opened the doors of its new Panorama City Medical Center. The design of our spacious new 400,000-square-foot hospital is patient-focused, and combines technology, expertise and compassion, bringing industry-leading quality and service to more than 300,000 Kaiser Permanente members in the area. The new facility replaces our original Panorama City Medical Center which opened in 1962.

The medical center's environment is carefully designed to inspire wellness, comfort, and healing. Natural light and sweeping views of the San Fernando Valley are brought inside by hundreds of windows specially designed to filter out harsh UV rays.

Panorama City Medical Center boasts a fully-functional electronic medical record system. Patient records, including lab results, prescriptions and x-rays are at the caregiver's fingertips, enhancing safety and convenience.

Our new hospital includes ten state-of-the-art operating rooms with ceiling-suspended equipment. Our surgical team will have instant access to the medical records system, including digital x-rays and lab results. Video conferencing transmits surgical procedures for physician consultations.

At Kaiser Permanente's new Panorama City Medical Center, we have devoted an entire floor to labor and delivery. Expectant parents can use one of our 13 spacious delivery suites that feel very much like home, where labor, non-surgical delivery and recovery all take place.

Our Neonatal Intensive Care Unit is Kaiser Permanente's highest level NICU in the San Fernando Valley – which means we are well-prepared to care for our smallest, most fragile young members.

All in-patient rooms are designed for comfort and healing and 80% of the rooms are private. Amenities like flat screen TVs and beds for overnight visitors enhance the experience and welcome visitors who are important in the healing process.

The walls are adorned with colors selected to inspire comfort and healing. The artwork, mostly by local artists, reflects themes of tranquility, health, and peace of mind.

Delicious meals from the salad bar, grill center, and kitchen, with an emphasis on healthy eating, can be enjoyed in a uniquely-designed dining area looking out into the central courtyard.

The Concourse connects the new hospital to the Central Medical Office Building providing easy access to outpatient medical services. This floor also houses our inpatient & outpatient pharmacies.

The Panorama City Medical Center represents the newest thinking in hospital design, with the emphasis on patient comfort, healing, and inspiration.

At Kaiser Permanente, we believe there is art to medicine as well as science. We stand for health. May you live long and thrive!
